

Tummy Time

This book is full of pictures of babies doing and thinking different things. Children love looking at books with real photos of other children, so this one will surely become a favorite! As you read this book with your child, stop and really think about what the baby is doing or thinking. Allow your child to share their thoughts about each picture. To reinforce the book's concepts, pull out photos of your child and other family members. Go through them with your child and discuss what was happening in each picture and what the person or people might have been thinking. If these are loose photos, create a photo album and record what was happening in the photo at the time, so these memories will never be lost!
